Description

The Fanuc A16B-1212-0110 is a power supply unit designed for Fanuc's 16-bit computer numerical control (CNC) systems, including models such as the 0-MC and 0-TC. This unit ensures a stable power source for CNC machines, contributing to their efficient and reliable operation. Key features include a metal-type construction and a weight of approximately 1.21 kg. The A16B-1212-0110 is compatible with earlier Fanuc 0-C controllers and is suitable for various CNC applications, including lathes, EDMs, and machining centers.
