Description

The Schneider Electric SH31001S0001183 is an industrial automation component designed for various applications. While specific technical specifications are limited, the product is noted for its environmental considerations, including a carbon footprint of 3341 kg CO_2 equivalent over its total lifecycle. The packaging utilizes recycled cardboard and does not contain single-use plastics, aligning with sustainability efforts. Compliance with the EU RoHS Directive is proactively maintained, and the product is PVC-free. Additionally, a California Proposition 65 warning indicates potential exposure to lead and lead compounds, substances known to cause cancer and reproductive harm. For more detailed information, refer to the product datasheet.
