Application Area	CNC Machinery
Series	SINUMERIK 880T

Description

The Siemens 6FC3191-2DC-Z is a component from the SINUMERIK series, specifically designed as a rack for numerical control (NC) systems. This part is integral to the SINUMERIK 880T controller, which is utilized in various CNC (Computer Numerical Control) applications.

The rack serves as a housing unit for the controller's components, ensuring organized assembly and efficient operation within CNC machinery. While detailed technical specifications are not readily available, the 6FC3191-2DC-Z is recognized for its role in facilitating precise control and automation in industrial settings.

Its compatibility with the SINUMERIK 880T system underscores its importance in advanced manufacturing processes that require high levels of automation and control.
