Description

The Siemens 6SN1118-0DK23-0AA0 is a high-performance digital control loop block from the SIMODRIVE 611 series, designed for precise two-axis closed-loop control in industrial automation applications. This module integrates seamlessly with NC software, required from version 06.04.09, and features a direct measuring system for enhanced accuracy. Manufactured in Germany, it is engineered to meet demanding industrial standards. Despite its phase-out date of September 30, 2014, the 6SN1118-0DK23-0AA0 remains repairable, offering a cost-effective solution for extending its service life. UNIS Group provides expert repair services to ensure continued operation beyond the official support period.
